start makes, 2.634 miles of new line having been opened during the year. The construction of railways has been entered upon with renewed energy and activity and it is predicted that construction will proceed rapidly until the mileage is more than double what it is now. In the five years since 1873 there has been constructed in the United States 11.563 miles of railway. A remarkable feature in the railroad operations of the country for several years past has been the enormously increased tomage in the face of a large falling off of earnings. The decline in earnings has been due to very great reductions in charges for transportation. Four Hours in the Dark.

It is a humilating confession to make—but geography is pitiless, and dred persons were assembled to witour national value or must bow to its decrees—that for four hours in every twenty-four the entire territory and alignment, that the designated of the United States is deprived of place in Ballston was instantly illuminated, as the surgeon down on the continuous contents of the united states are designated to the continuous contents of the united states are designated to the continuous contents of the united states are designated to the united states of the united states are designated to the united states of the united states are designated to the united states of the united states are designated to the united states of the united st sunshine. To our Fentan citizens this may be another and cogent reason for annexing the dear little lale of the harp and the shantrock; but until it is done the examinant cry of the Rocky Mountain Prezbyterian, that the sun never sets Prezbyterian, that the sun never sets on the United States, must be admitted a tride exaggerated. It does set ted a trifle exaggerated. It does set every day, and paradoxically, four hours before it rises.

In the depth of our humiliation we may possible console ourselves with the reflections that—though our British cousins can say with twath what we cannot—the sun really shines on the United States when it is up. We have to submit to four hours of sunlessness a day: England is lucky to get four hours of smakine. So life has it compensations, and existence in the United States remains endurable, though we do not (geographically speaking) making quite so great a spread as we thought

The case seems to have been one of genuine hydrophobia, notwithstanding the fact of recovery. The circumstance, however, that the patient attended a hydrophobic neighbor (who was bit by a rabid dog a lew days before she was, and died of the discase), witnessing his convulsions and other symptome, makes her case possibly one of simulation.

The Railreads of the United States.

The twelfth annual number of Poer's Mannal of Railroads of the United States is unprecedentedly full of information, owing to the more detailed statements furnished by the companies and the reports of State departments for the general oversight of railroads. For the first time for several years the introductory article is able to record a very decided recovery of the railway interests of the country from their recent depressed condition. The total mileage in operation at the close of the year was SLS41 mJes, 2.694 miles of new line in the construction of railways has a state of the construction of the construction of the construction of Miss Rosa Slayden, Teacher of Painting, Drawing, Sketching, &c. Colar Blad College was founded in 1862. It is decidedly non-sectarian, but strictly religans in all its aims. It receives no day aprils, all must board in the College with the teachers. This favors the exercise of that care and selucitude of which young ladies should not be deprived while absent from the paternal roof. It has been one of the leading schools in southern kentucky for the effection of young ladies. The locality is is sentified. Its prices have been accommodated to the stringency of the times. Its Family is full, and its course thorough. The soons are neatly carpeted and conveniently furnished. A large campus and pleasant surroundings render its delightful place for the collection of young ladies.
